ZONING INFORMATION

Downtown Historic (DH)

Nampa's Downtown Historic (DH) zoning district is designed to preserve the historic charm of the city's core while encouraging economic growth and redevelopment. Centered around Main Street and Library Square, this zone includes many early-20th-century buildings and follows strict architectural guidelines to maintain their historic look and feel. The zoning supports a walkable, mixed-use environment—retail on the ground floor with offices or residential units above—and aims to create a vibrant downtown that blends historic preservation with modern use.

The DH zoning allows a wide mix of uses, including shops, restaurants, offices, housing, and civic spaces. Key regulations focus on maintaining pedestrian-friendly storefronts, using materials that match original architecture, and protecting the rhythm and scale of the historic streetscape. Any exterior renovations or new buildings in the district must go through a design review process to ensure compatibility with historic design standards. Parking is minimized to encourage foot traffic and better use of space.

The benefits to the community are substantial. The DH district enhances Nampa's cultural identity, supports local businesses, attracts tourism, and increases property values through quality preservation and public investment. Projects like Library Square, Lloyd's Square plaza, and various restored storefronts have helped revitalize the area and bring energy back to downtown. In addition, property owners can access city grants, such as façade improvement programs and restaurant incentives, to help offset renovation costs. These efforts have positioned Nampa's historic downtown as both a preserved asset and an economic engine for the city.

BOISE VALLEY

AREA OVERVIEW

The Boise Valley is home to Idaho's capitol and serves as the center of commerce, politics, population, cultural events, and the blue field that personifies the Boise State Broncos. As a high desert community resting at the foot of the mountains, it is surrounded by thriving bedroom communities rich in their own histories and economies, bringing the metro area population to approximately 845,864. Experts estimate the MSA population will exceed 1,075,000 by 2050.

Although Idaho is world famous for its agriculture, it has an equally vibrant economic environment for high-tech, healthcare, education, transportation, service, tourism, and retail industries. Many nationally and globally recognized corporations have a home in the valley, including Micron Technology, Hewlett Packard, Amazon, Albertsons, J.R. Simplot Company, MotivePower, Materne, LambWeston, and many others.

Forbes consistently ranks the Boise Valley as one of the top places in the country to not only do business, but also for raising a family, entertainment, recreation and its high quality of life.
