Tenant Profile & Operating Information

The Tin Room Bar & Theater has been a cornerstone of Olde Burien for 21 years, opening in 2004 after the historic Hi-Line Tin Shop (est. 1930)—Burien’s longest continuously operating business—was transformed into the bar, restaurant, and theater that exists today. Located along Burien’s premier SW 152nd Street corridor, the property has had only two owners since 1930 and benefits from strong foot traffic, walkability, and a loyal community following.

The Tin Room features a full-service bar with craft cocktails, local beers, and elevated American comfort food, along with an intimate dining room, patio seating, and a vintage on-site theater for private events and screenings. The venue has also been recognized by both The Seattle Times and The New York Times, reinforcing its reputation as one of Burien’s destination establishments.
